

INVITATION: Join Transportation for America's Beth Osborne to discuss transportation and economic development

Friends,

Metro and Transportation For America cordially invite you to breakfast on September 11, 7:30am, at Metro Council Chambers to discuss the links between transportation investment and economic development.

The Portland metro region has several upcoming opportunities to invest in its transportation networks. Decisions about how we plan and develop our roads, transit systems and freight networks have strong economic development implications, but the relationships are complex, and how we measure outcomes should, but does not always, reflect our values.

Come learn how regions across the country have made investment decisions, and what results they have achieved with regard to economic development and competitiveness.

This event will feature Beth Osborne, senior policy adviser for Transportation for America, who brings five year's experience at US DOT including serving as Acting Assistant Secretary for Transportation Policy and a national perspective on transportation policy and funding.

What

Policy Breakfast about transportation investment and economic development in the Portland region

Featuring:

Beth Osborne – senior policy advisor for Transportation For America
Additional speakers to be announced

When / Where:

Friday, September 11, 7:30 – 9:00 AM
Metro Council Chambers
600 NE Grand Ave.
Portland, OR 97232

Registration

$50 general
$25 for members of Transportation For America – Contact chris.rall@t4america.org or watch your member updates for the discount promo code.

Registration here